May 21, 2020

The Honorable Michael R. Pompeo
Secretary of State
Department of State
2201 C Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20520

Dear Secretary Pompeo:

The Committees strongly oppose President Trump’s abrupt notice of removal—at your recommendation—of State Department Inspector General Steve Linick, and we urge that he be reinstated immediately. Mr. Linick’s removal is the latest in a series of politically motivated firings of Inspectors General by President Trump.

Based on longstanding concerns with your actions—and new reports this week about potential abuses—this assault on the integrity and independence of Inspectors General appears to be an intentional campaign to undermine their ability to expose corruption and protect taxpayer dollars from waste, fraud, and abuse.

Interference with Ongoing Work of the Inspector General’s Office

The Inspector General Act states that the head of an agency may not “prevent or prohibit the Inspector General from initiating, carrying out, or completing any audit or investigation.”1 Any attempt by you or your office to interfere with the Inspector General’s investigation of yourself is illegal and will be thoroughly examined by Congress.

On May 18, 2020, you confirmed in a press interview that President Trump fired Inspector General Linick at your recommendation. You stated:

I went to the President and made clear to him that Inspector General Linick wasn’t performing a function in a way that we had tried to get him to, that was additive for the State Department, very consistent with what the statute says he’s supposed to be doing.2

Later that day, President Trump confirmed that he acted based on your recommendation, stating about Inspector General Linick: “I don’t know him at all. I never even heard of him.

1 5a U.S.C. §3(a).

2 Pompeo Says He Didn’t Know Fired Inspector General Was Investigating Him, Washington Post (May 18, 2020) (online at www.washingtonpost.com/national-security/pompeo-says-he-didnt-know-fired-inspector-general-was-investigating-him/2020/05/18/3ab08dca-9923-11ea-b60c-3be060a4f8e1_story.html).
But I was asked to by the State Department, by Mike.”

This is not an adequate basis to remove an independent Senate-confirmed Inspector General. It appears that you may have taken this step because the Inspector General’s office has been investigating your actions as Secretary, including allegations that you improperly directed appointees to perform personal tasks, as well as your role in the President’s decision to sell billions of dollars of weapons to Saudi Arabia last year under an emergency declaration.

In addition, we are concerned about a new media report this week that describes a series of lavish dinners that you have been hosting with prominent Republican officials, commentators, and public figures—all at taxpayer expense.

State Department regulations prohibit the use of Diplomatic Reception Rooms for functions “that have a partisan, political, sectarian, or similar nature or purpose” or for functions “of a personal nature, such as private parties or other social events which are not affiliated with, or in support of, official U.S. Government business.”

However, according to this new report, you have been using historic State Department facilities, government employees, and taxpayer resources to put on these so-called “Madison Dinners,” which are “elaborate, unpublicized affairs that Pompeo and his wife, Susan Pompeo, began in 2018 and held regularly in the historic Diplomatic Reception Rooms on the government’s dime.”

The official foreign policy nature of these events is unclear, and the reporting describes the invitees as follows:

The records show that about 29 percent of the invitees came from the corporate world, while about a quarter of them hailed from the media or entertainment industries, with conservative media members heavily represented. About 30 percent work in politics or government, and just 14 percent were diplomats or foreign officials. Every single member of the House or the Senate who has been invited is a Republican.
The report notes: “It’s unclear whether the inspector general was also investigating the Madison Dinners, but two administration officials told NBC News that Linick made some type of inquiry to the protocol office last week, before he was fired. One of the officials said Pompeo’s office was then notified.10

Conflicts of Interest for Political Appointee Selected as Acting Inspector General

We also strongly oppose President Trump’s selection of Stephen Akard, the Director of the Office of Foreign Missions, to be Acting Inspector General.11 Ambassador Akard lacks the independence, qualifications, and experience necessary to be an effective Inspector General.

Prior to his current tenure in the State Department, Ambassador Akard worked for the Indiana Economic Development Corporation, and before that served in the administrations of then-Indiana Governor Mike Pence and other Indiana governors.12 Though he has experience as a Foreign Service Officer earlier in his career, Ambassador Akard appears to have no investigatory or law enforcement experience, which leaves him unprepared to oversee the Office of Inspector General’s hundreds of audits and investigations each year.

It is also our understanding that Ambassador Akard would continue leading the Office of Foreign Missions while serving as Acting Inspector General. Under this troubling arrangement, Ambassador Akard would report to you while simultaneously serving in a role that is required by law to be independent. Ambassador Akard would have an inherent conflict of interest that would prohibit him from having the independence necessary to conduct fair and rigorous oversight of the Department and of your actions. This environment could severely chill whistleblower disclosures to the Office of Inspector General because whistleblowers might fear that their identity could become known to an official still reporting to you. Ambassador Akard’s dual appointment also may chill communication within the Office of Inspector General if auditors or investigators are concerned that he will share information with you before it is appropriate.

Conclusion and Requests

The Committee on Oversight and Reform has jurisdiction over the Inspector General Act, and the Committee on Foreign Affairs has jurisdiction over matters involving the State Department.

For the reasons set forth above, we urge you to advise President Trump to halt the termination of Inspector General Linick. If Ambassador Akard remains Acting Inspector General, he should resign as Director of the Office of Missions and recuse himself from all matters involving that office or the Office of the Secretary.
