The Honorable Jeh C. Johnson
Secretary
U.S. Department of Homeland Security
Washington, DC 20528

Dear Mr. Secretary:

A recent review by the Department of Homeland Security Office of Inspector General (DHS OIG) found that the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) did not identify 73 individuals “employed by major airlines, airport vendors, and other employers” with links to terrorism.<sup>1</sup> In response to the Inspector General’s findings, “TSA acknowledged that these individuals were cleared for access to secure airport areas despite representing a potential transportation security threat.”<sup>2</sup> The DHS OIG report identified significant vulnerabilities in TSA’s vetting process. We are writing to request information about TSA’s vetting process, boarding process, and the Department’s plans to address the lack of critical information sharing described in the DHS OIG’s report.

According to the report, TSA’s vetting process did not identify the airline industry employees with links to terrorism “because it is not authorized to receive all terrorism-related categories under current interagency watchlisting policy.”<sup>3</sup> TSA was unable to identify the 73 individuals because “the watchlist extract TSA received from DHS Watchlist Service and used for vetting did not contain the terrorism codes associated with those individuals.”<sup>4</sup> The report also stated: “The Interagency Policy Committee responsible for watchlist policy determines what terrorism-related categories are provided to TSA, while the DHS Watchlist Service provides allowable information to TSA.”<sup>5</sup>

TSA concurred with DHS OIG’s recommendation to determine if TSA’s vetting program should access additional categories of terrorism related records. The current restrictions on TSA’s access to records that would identify prospective and current airline industry employees with links to terrorism, however, are highly problematic.
