January 16, 2018

Honorable Jim Jordan
Chairman, Subcommittee on Healthcare,
Benefits, and Administrative Rules
Committee on Oversight
and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Representative Jordan:

Thank you for your December 8, 2017, letter to Secretary DeVos regarding guidance issued by the U.S. Department of Education (Department) since January 1, 2008. Your letter was forwarded to me, and I am pleased to respond on the Secretary's behalf. An identical response has been sent to each of your cosigners.

In accordance with our discussions with your staff, we are providing the information you requested for two Department offices – the Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO) and the Office of Management's Office of the Chief Privacy Officer (OM-OCPO). The Department will provide information for the remaining offices on a rolling basis to be completed no later than February 15, 2018.

We have enclosed spreadsheets responding to Questions 1 through 6b and 7 for OCFO and OM-OCPO. With respect to question 6c, none of the listed guidance was submitted to GAO or Congress. With respect to Question 6d, the Department's Regulatory Reform Task Force has overseen and is continuing to oversee the review by Department offices of their guidance in accordance with Executive Order 13777. The Department's most recent report on this review can be found at <https://www2.ed.gov/documents/press-releases/regulatory-reform-task-force-progress-report-2.pdf>.

Should you have any questions regarding this submission, please contact Peter Oppenheim, Assistant Secretary for Legislation and Congressional Affairs, at (202) 401-0020.

Sincerely,

Robert S. Eitel

U.S. EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION
Washington, D.C. 20507

Office of Communications and Legislative Affairs

January 5, 2018

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman
Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Chairman Gowdy:

This is in response to your letter dated December 8, 2017 to Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC or Commission) Acting Chair Victoria A. Lipnic, requesting a list of all guidance documents issued by the Commission since January 1, 2008, as part of the Committee's effort to better understand how and when federal agencies issue guidance documents. As you know, the Commission enforces the federal equal employment opportunity (EEO) laws, including Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VII), Titles I and V of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA), and other EEO laws.¹ The EEOC is committed to working with the Committee.

Your letter of December 8, 2017 (12/8/17 letter) accurately observes that federal agencies use a variety of names for guidance documents, for example, memoranda, policy statements, manuals, circulars, bulletins, advisories, or guidance. To identify a definition of the term "guidance document," your letter references the definition used by the Office of Management and Budget, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OMB) that a "guidance document" is "an agency statement of general applicability and future effect that sets forth a policy on a statutory, regulatory, or technical issue or an interpretation of a statutory or regulatory issue."²

The EEOC has a dedicated page on its website for "Subregulatory Guidance," <https://www.eeoc.gov/laws/guidance/index.cfm>, which defines this term consistent with OMB's definition of a "guidance document." The EEOC states that its guidance "communicates policy positions of the Commission on important EEO legal issues . . ." and "express[es] official agency policy [that is] used to explain how the laws and regulations apply to specific workplace situations.” Subregulatory guidance documents are subject to a Commission vote because they establish official agency positions; each guidance document listed below was approved by a majority of the EEOC’s Commissioners.³ As noted on our “Subregulatory Guidance” web page, the EEOC uses the terms Compliance Manual, Enforcement Guidance, Policy Guidance, or Policy Statement to refer to “guidance documents.” Consistent with OMB’s 2007 definition of “guidance document” in the Bulletin on Good Guidance Practices, see note 2, the EEOC understands regulations and their accompanying preambles as distinct from subregulatory guidance.⁴

The following guidance has been issued by the Commission since January 1, 2008:

- Compliance Manual: Religious Discrimination (approved by unanimous vote and released online July 22, 2008)
<https://www.eeoc.gov/policy/docs/religion.html>

This Compliance Manual section updated a 1984 Compliance Manual section by the same title to reflect new case law and consolidate in one document a series of policy statements that the Commission had issued between 1984 and 2008. In 2003, the agency held a series of meetings with more than 60 religious groups, employer groups, unions, and secular civil liberties groups to receive public input on contemplated guidance updates, and again in 2008 with more than such 35 such groups. The Commissioners held a public Commission meeting to deliberate and vote on the guidance. The meeting was announced and publicized in advance by both a notice in the Federal Register pursuant to the Sunshine Act⁵ and by press release.⁶ Among other subjects, this Compliance Manual section addresses disparate treatment based on religion, the requirement of reasonable accommodation for religious beliefs and practices, religion-based harassment, and retaliation.

³ The EEOC Chair may approve specific resource documents that speak to current events or different audiences if those resource documents are fully consistent with established EEOC policy positions that have been approved by a majority of the EEOC Commissioners. For example, each of the guidance documents identified in this letter was accompanied by a short question-and answer publication that summarized the guidance and/or a short small business fact sheet that condensed in non-legal language the major points of the guidance document. The EEOC Chair approved these resource documents without another Commission vote. Resource documents that do not create new policy have also been issued in other formats, such as Best Practices and “What-You-Should-Know” fact sheets.

- Enforcement Guidance on Employer Use of Arrest and Conviction Records in Employment Decisions under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (approved by majority vote and released online April 25, 2012)

This guidance consolidates prior policy guidance about Title VII and conviction records approved by the Commission in 1987 under Chair Clarence Thomas, and about Title VII and arrest records approved by the Commission in 1990 under Chair Evan Kemp. The 2012 guidance updates relevant data, consolidates the 1987 and 1990 EEOC policy statements on this issue, and addresses court decisions that called on the Commission to provide a more detailed legal rationale for its positions than it did in the 1987 and 1990 guidance documents. The 2012 guidance illustrates how Title VII applies to various scenarios that an employer may encounter when considering the arrest or conviction history of a current or prospective employee. During the development of this guidance, the Commission held public meetings on this topic in 2008 and 2011 that were announced in advance in the *Federal Register*⁷ as well as by press release.⁸ Following the 2011 Commission meeting, the EEOC issued a press release summarizing the testimony received, and publicizing that the record would be kept open for public comments afterwards.⁹ The Commission also posted on its website the full meeting transcript and written witness statements. Approximately 300 comments were received.¹⁰ Following consideration of all this input, the guidance was considered and approved at an additional Commission meeting that was publicized in advance by Federal Register notice¹¹ and press release.¹²

⁹ See <https://www.eeoc.gov/eeoc/newsroom/release/7-26-11.cfm>.

- Enforcement Guidance: Pregnancy Discrimination and Related Issues (originally approved by majority vote and released online July 14, 2014; revised guidance approved by majority vote and released online June 25, 2015)
https://www.eeoc.gov/laws/guidance/pregnancy_guidance.cfm

This guidance addresses: application of the Pregnancy Discrimination Act (PDA) to current, past, and potential pregnancy; termination or refusal to hire someone because she is pregnant and other prohibited employment actions based on pregnancy; application of the PDA to lactation and breastfeeding; prohibition of forced leave policies; the obligation to treat women and men the same with respect to parental leave policies; and access to health insurance. The guidance also addresses application of Title I of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) to pregnancy-related disabilities. During the development of this guidance, the Commission held a public meeting that was publicized in advance by Federal Register notice¹³ and press release.¹⁴ Following the meeting, the Commission issued a press release summarizing the testimony received, and publicizing that the record would be kept open following the meeting to facilitate public comment.¹⁵ The Commission also posted on its website the full meeting transcript and written witness statements. Following the meeting, approximately 15 organizations and individuals provided additional input. Following consideration of all public input, the guidance was originally issued in 2014, and then was subsequently revised and approved for re-issuance following the Supreme Court decision in Young v. United Parcel Serv., Inc., 575 U.S. ___, 135 S. Ct. 1338 (2015).

- Enforcement Guidance on Retaliation and Related Issues (approved by majority vote Aug. 25, 2016, and released online August 29, 2016)
<https://www.eeoc.gov/laws/guidance/retaliation-guidance.cfm>

This guidance updates the Compliance Manual section on retaliation issued in 1998, reflecting seven U.S. Supreme Court decisions issued since 1998 relating to retaliation under EEOC-enforced laws. The guidance also addresses the separate “interference” provision under section 503(b) of the ADA, which prohibits coercion, threats, or other acts that interfere with the exercise of ADA rights. In preparing the guidance, the agency considered the stakeholder views expressed at the June 17, 2015 Commission Meeting held on this topic, which were summarized in a subsequently issued press release along with posting on the Commission’s website of the full meeting transcript and written witness statements.¹⁶ In addition, the Commission published a proposed version of the guidance (without finality or legal effect) for public input through www.regulations.gov, as well as inter-agency review. After considering all input received, including feedback from approximately 60 organizations and individuals, the Commission approved the final guidance. The EEOC gave prior notice to the Office of Management and Budget of both the proposed and final guidance, but OMB did not ask to review the document.

- Enforcement Guidance on National Origin Discrimination (approved by majority vote Nov. 18, 2016, and released online Nov. 21, 2016)

<https://www.eeoc.gov/laws/guidance/retaliation-guidance.cfm>

This guidance updated the Compliance Manual section on this topic issued in 2002. The 2016 guidance discusses Title VII's prohibition on national origin discrimination as applied to a wide variety of employment situations and highlights promising practices for employers to prevent discrimination. The guidance also addresses developments in the courts since 2002, and topics such as job segregation, human trafficking, and intersectional discrimination. In preparing the guidance, the agency considered the stakeholder views expressed at the November 13, 2013 Commission Meeting held on this topic, which were summarized in a subsequently issued press release along with posting on the Commission's website of the full meeting transcript and written witness statements.¹⁷ In addition, the Commission published a proposed version of the guidance (without finality or legal effect) for public input through www.regulations.gov, as well as inter-agency review. After considering all input received, including feedback from more than 20 organizations and individuals, the Commission approved the final guidance. The EEOC gave prior notice to the Office of Management and Budget of both the proposed and final guidance, but OMB did not ask to review the document.

In response to the other inquiries you posed, the Commission did not deem the foregoing guidance as "significant" under OMB's Good Guidance Practices because it updated existing, published guidance and did not involve "novel legal or policy issues."¹⁸ Beginning in January 2016, the EEOC began an informal practice of obtaining public input on guidance by publishing a proposal on www.regulations.gov, following a process similar to that used for regulations, even though not required by the Administrative Procedure Act. As noted above, for both of the 2016 guidance documents (Retaliation and National Origin), the EEOC gave OMB notice prior to issuing both the proposed and final versions. OMB did not request to review any of these documents before issuance. The EEOC's Regulatory Reform Task Force is in the process of reviewing all EEOC guidance, including the above.

¹⁷ See <https://www.eeoc.gov/eeoc/newsroom/release/11-13-13.cfm>.

¹⁸OMB's "Final Bulletin for Agency Good Guidance Practices, 72 Fed. Reg. 3432, 3439 (Jan. 25, 2007), provides that the term "significant guidance document," as defined in E.O. 12866, as further amended, section 3(h), encompasses documents that may be reasonably anticipated to have a specified threshold economic effect, create inconsistency with actions by another agency, materially alter various budget impacts, or "[r]aise novel legal or policy issues arising out of legal mandates, the President's priorities, or the principles set forth in Executive Order 12866, as further amended."

Dear Chairman Gowdy, and Subcommittee Chairmen Meadows, Jordan, Palmer, and Farenthold:

This letter is in response to your December 8, 2017 letter requesting information on the Export-Import Bank of the United States' (EXIM) issuance of "statements of policy, interpretive rules, and other guidance documents." EXIM appreciates the Committee's interest in better understanding how federal agencies issue such guidance documents and is pleased to provide this response.

Section 4 of Executive Order 13771 defines a "regulation" or "rule" as an "agency statement of general or particular applicability and future effect designed to implement, interpret, or prescribe law or policy or to describe the procedure or practice requirements of an agency," but does not include, among other things, "regulations related to agency organization, management, or personnel." EXIM, with a mission of supporting U.S. jobs through exports, is not a regulatory agency and does not issue guidance documents as we understand your request; that is, guidance documents that have a regulatory effect.¹ Like all agencies, EXIM has developed a number of other procedures and policies that guide internal operations and support the implementation of EXIM programs.

In the interest of transparency, however, the Bank does have a limited number of policy and procedural documents designed to implement requirements imposed to assist EXIM staff, U.S. exporters, and foreign buyers in understanding the laws and legislative requirements that apply to EXIM Bank, but we do not understand these to be "guidance documents" as described in your letter. In that regard, none of these documents have been submitted for review by the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs as "significant guidance documents."

In the interest of assisting the Committee, EXIM would like to provide the following information regarding several policies and procedures that it has adopted in relation to its Charter provisions, which are described in greater detail below.

Economic Impact Procedures and Methodological Guidelines

The Export-Import Bank Act of 1945, as amended (12 U.S.C. 635 et seq.), requires EXIM to perform economic impact analyses.² Since 1978, economic impact language relating to EXIM financing has also been included in annual appropriations bills.³ All transactions received by the Bank are reviewed for potential adverse economic impact, and if EXIM determines that a transaction meets the legislatively specified standards, then economic impact can be the basis for EXIM to deny that transaction.

EXIM's Economic Impact Procedures and Methodological Guidelines are updated periodically by EXIM's Board of Directors. The current procedures and guidelines were approved by the Bank's Board of Directors and implemented in April 2013. EXIM's Office of Policy Analysis and International Relations is responsible for implementing the procedures and guidelines and, where appropriate, proposing updates for consideration by the EXIM Board of Directors.

² See Sections 2(b)(1)(B) and 2(e) of the EXIM Charter (<http://www.exim.gov/exim-bank-charter>).

³ For example, Sec. 7025 of P.L. 115-31, the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2017.

Additional information regarding EXIM's Economic Impact Procedures, including a current copy of the guidelines, can be found on EXIM's website at <http://www.exim.gov/policies/economic-impact>.

Environmental and Social Due Diligence Procedures and Guidelines

In accordance with its Charter,⁴ EXIM established procedures to assess the potential environmental impacts of transactions for which EXIM financing is requested. As outlined in the Bank's Environmental and Social Due Diligence Procedures and Guidelines, transactions received by the Bank are reviewed for potential environmental impacts, and the Board of Directors is authorized to approve, condition, or withhold financing after taking into account the environmental effects of a proposed project.

EXIM's Environmental and Social Due Diligence Procedures and Guidelines are updated periodically, and EXIM's Board of Directors approved the current guidelines on December 12, 2013. The guidelines are developed under the direction of EXIM's Engineering and Environment Division and other relevant divisions, and reflect input from stakeholders, including U.S. exporters, other U.S. government agencies, and non-governmental organizations. Annex A-2, the Supplemental Guidelines for High Carbon Intensity Projects of the Environmental and Social Procedures and Guidelines, has been partially suspended by Congress through provisions in annual appropriations legislation.⁵

Additional information regarding EXIM's Environmental and Social Due Diligence Procedures and Guidelines, including a current copy of the guidelines, can be found at <http://www.exim.gov/policies/ex-im-bank-and-the-environment/environmental-and-social-due-diligence-procedures-and-guidelines>.

Iran Sanctions

In accordance with its Charter⁶ and in keeping with the United States' comprehensive Iran sanctions provisions, EXIM performs due diligence on the transaction parties in all transactions, including corporate affiliates, and requires certain certifications for transactions that are subject to approval by the Bank's Board of Directors.

These certifications were established in response to provisions included in the Export-Import Bank Reauthorization Act of 2012 (P.L. 112-122) and were finalized in March 2013. The certifications were developed by the Office of the General Counsel.

Additional information regarding EXIM's adherence to U.S. government-wide Iran sanctions, as well as copies of the Activities Certification and the Sanctioned Persons

⁴ See Section 11 of the EXIM Charter.

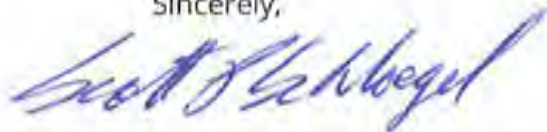

⁵ For example, Sec. 7079 of P.L. 115-31, the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2017.

⁶ See Section 18 of the EXIM Charter.

Certification, can be found on EXIM's website at <http://www.exim.gov/policies/iran-sanctions>.

I trust this information is helpful to the Committee's efforts. If you need any further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me at 202-565-3500 or Natalie McGarry, Acting Senior Vice President of Congressional and Intergovernmental Affairs, at 202-565-3230.

Identification of Relevant FDIC Guidance Documents

The enclosed document contains a partial listing of FDIC guidance documents that have been identified as potentially responsive to the Committee's letter dated December 8, 2017. These documents were identified by a manual search of documents, including, but not limited to, Financial Institution Letters (FILs), that were issued by the FDIC since January 1, 2008 and intended to communicate guidance to FDIC supervised institutions and that also met the guidelines outlined by majority staff of the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform in telephone discussions on December 12, 2017. As discussed with your staff, FILs or other guidance documents that contained the terms "guidance," "guideline(s)," "FAQs," "Q&As," or "Questions and Answers" in their titles have been included on the enclosed list. Only documents issued since January 1, 2008 and that currently remain in effect are included on the enclosed list. As discussed with staff, where FDIC guidance was preceded by interim or advisory issuances, including Notices of Proposed Rulemakings (NPRs) or surveys issued pursuant to the Paperwork Reduction Act, only the final and effective guidance document is being included on the enclosed list. Additionally, as discussed with staff, notifications of conference calls or webinars have not been included on the enclosed list.

As also discussed with your staff, it is not the standard practice of the FDIC to submit all FILs or agency issuances to Congress or the Government Accountability Office (GAO) unless the document was subject to a rulemaking under the Administrative Procedure Act. In cases where documents listed were submitted to the Federal Register, the final Federal Register notice is listed.

As your staff is aware, Section 9 of Executive Order 12866 (as amended by Executive Orders 13258 and 13422), which defines "significant guidance documents" and specifies agency treatment of such documents, does not apply to independent regulatory agencies (as defined in 44 U.S.C. § 3502(5)) like the FDIC, though the FDIC does work closely with the Office of Management and Budget on other matters, such as information collections under the Paperwork Reduction Act. Similarly, the FDIC and other independent agencies are exempt from the requirements of Executive Order 13777, requiring agencies to establish Regulatory Task Forces to review their existing regulations (See April 28, 2017, Memorandum entitled Guidance on Regulatory Reform Accountability under Executive Order 13777, titled "Enforcing the Regulatory Reform Agenda"). However, under the Economic Growth and Regulatory Paperwork Reduction Act of 1996 (EGRPRA), the FDIC reviews all of its regulations and considers how to reduce regulatory burden on insured depository institutions. In the March 2017 EGRPRA report to Congress, the FDIC stated that it will review its guidance documents to identify further opportunities for streamlining guidance and reducing regulatory burden.¹

As requested by your staff, the agency has made it a priority to make an initial partial production of responsive information by the requested due date in the Committee's letter and will update this list on a rolling basis as additional potentially responsive documents are reviewed and identified.

FIL-84-2008 Liquidity Risk Management	Guidance	The FDIC is issuing this guidance to highlight the importance of liquidity risk management at financial institutions. Liquidity risk measurement and management systems should reflect an institution's complexity, risk profile, and scope of operations. The requirements governing the acceptance, renewal, or rolling over of brokered deposits are applicable to all insured depository institutions.	8/26/2008	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2008/fil08084.html	N/A	FIL-84-2008

FIL-1-2009 Monitoring the Use of Funding from Federal: Financial Stability and Guaranty Programs	Guidance	State nonmember institutions should implement a process to monitor their use of capital injections, liquidity support and/or financing guarantees obtained through recent financial stability programs established by Department of the Treasury, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) and the Federal Reserve. In particular, the monitoring processes should help to determine how participation in these federal programs has assisted institutions in supporting prudent lending and/or supporting efforts to work with existing borrowers to avoid unnecessary foreclosures. The FDIC encourages institutions to include a summary of this information in shareholder and public reports, annual reports and financial statements, as applicable.	1/12/2009	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2009/fil09001.html	N/A	FIL-1-2009

The amount of the special assessment for any institution will not exceed 10 basis points times the institution's assessment base for the second quarter 2009. FIL-25-2009 Interest Rate Restrictions on Institutions That are Less Than Well Capitalized: Final Rule	Final Rule	The FDIC has issued the attached final rule making certain revisions to the interest rate restrictions under Part 337.6 of the FDIC Rules and Regulations. Under the final rule, the "national rate" is a simple average of rates paid by U.S. depository institutions as calculated by the FDIC. When evaluating the Part 337.6 compliance of an institution that is less than Well Capitalized, the FDIC will deem the national rate to be the prevailing rate in all market areas, unless it agrees with evidence provided by the institution that it is operating in an area where prevailing deposit interest rates are higher.	5/29/2009	FDIC-RMS	74 FR 26516	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2009/fil09025.html	N/A	FIL-25-2009

FIL-32-2009 Third-Party Referrals Promising Above-Market Rates on Certificates of Deposit	Guidance	FDIC-insured institutions should be aware of any unsolicited deposits received through third- party referrals. Certain insurance companies and other financial services firms (third parties) are advertising above-market rate certificates of deposit (CDs) to attract customers. When a customer buys the advertised CD, the customer is referred to the Web site of an FDIC-insured institution with the third party "making up" the difference between the insured institution's actual rate and the advertised above-market rate.	6/19/2009	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2009/fil09032.html	N/A	FIL-32-2009

The FDIC Board of Directors adopted these amendments in light of changes in the industry; certain sound audit, reporting, and audit committee practices incorporated in the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; and the FDIC's experience in administering Part 363. The amendments also provide clearer and more complete guidance for compliance with Part 363.	6/30/2009	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2009/fil09033.html	N/A	FIL-33-2009

FIL-43-2009 Allowance for Loan and Lease Losses: Residential Mortgages Secured by Junior Liens	Guidance	When estimating credit losses on each group of loans with similar risk characteristics, an institution should consider its historical loss experience on the group, adjusted for changes in trends, conditions, and other relevant factors in the current economic environment that affect repayment of the loans in the group as of the allowance evaluation date. The need to consider all significant factors that affect collectibility is especially important for loans secured by junior liens on 1-4 family residential properties (junior lien loans) in areas where there have been declines in the value of such properties. FIL-45-2009 Support for Responsible Loss Mitigation Activities: Servicers' Obligations to Lienholders on Modifying Loans	Guidance	The members of the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council (FFIEC) continue to support responsible loss mitigation activities by federal- and state-regulated financial institutions that preserve homeownership. This support extends to programs designed to achieve sustainable mortgage obligations regardless of lien position. The FFIEC members recognize that entities that service first and subordinate liens on the same residential real estate property may be faced with potential conflicts of interest when making loan modification decisions. A servicer's decision to modify the first lien mortgage should not be influenced by the modification's potential impact on the subordinate lien loan and vice versa. Any ownership interest in the subordinate lien cannot be a consideration.	8/6/2009	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2009/fil09045.html	N/A	FIL-45-2009
FIL-50-2009 Enhanced Supervisory Procedures for Newly Insured FDIC-Supervised Depository Institutions	Guidance	The FDIC is advising the banking industry of supervisory changes for state nonmember institutions insured seven years or less (de novo period). Under current policy, newly insured institutions are subject to higher capital requirements and more frequent examination activities during the first three years of operation. Based on supervisory experience, the FDIC will now extend the de novo period from the current three-year period to seven years for examinations, capital, and other requirements. In addition, material changes in business plans for newly insured institutions will require prior FDIC approval during the first seven years of operation.	8/28/2009	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2009/fil09050.html	N/A	FIL-50-2009

FIL-62-2009: Determining Conformance With Interest Rate Restrictions for Less Than Well Capitalized Institutions	Statement	The FDIC Board approved a final rule on May 29, 2009, changing the way the FDIC administers its statutory restrictions on the deposit interest rates paid by banks that are less than well capitalized under Section 337.6 of the FDIC Rules and Regulations (see FIL-25-2009). The final rule redefines the national rate as "a simple average of rates paid by insured depository institutions and branches for which data are available" and deems the national rate to be the prevailing rate for all market areas. Once the final rule is effective on January 1, 2010, an institution can use the prevailing rates in its market area to determine conformance only if it seeks and receives a determination from the FDIC that it is operating in a high rate area.	11/3/2009	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2009/fil09062.html	N/A	FIL-62-2009

FIL-69-2009: Process for Determining If An Institution Subject to Interest-Rate Restrictions is Operating in a High-Rate Area	Statement	Effective January 1, 2010, institutions subject to the interest rate restrictions under Part 337.6 of the FDIC Rules and Regulations ("restrictions") are required to use the "national rate" to determine conformance with the restrictions. The "national rate" is defined as a simple average of rates paid by insured depository institutions and branches for which data are available. Institutions subject to the restrictions that believe they are operating in an area where the rates paid on deposits are higher than the "national rate" can use the local market to determine the prevailing rate if they seek and receive a determination from the FDIC that it is operating in a high-rate area. FIL-2-2010: Financial Institution Management of Interest Rate Risk	Guidance	Current economic conditions present significant risk management challenges to depository institutions of all sizes. Institutions are reminded to not lose focus on their management of interest rate risk (IRR). For a number of institutions, increased loan losses and sharp declines in the value of certain securities portfolios are placing downward pressure on capital and earnings. In this interest rate environment, taking advantage of a steeply upward sloping yield curve by funding longer term assets with shorter-term liabilities may pose risks to an institution's capital and earnings should short-term interest rates rise. Depository institutions are expected to manage IRR exposures using policies and procedures commensurate with their complexity, business model, risk profile, and scope of operations. This letter clarifies existing IRR guidance.	1/20/2010	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2010/fil10002.html	N/A	FIL-2-2010:

FIL-5-2010: Meeting the Credit Needs of Creditworthy Small Business Borrowers	Guidance	Summary: The federal financial regulatory agencies and the state supervisors (collectively, the regulators) are issuing the attached statement to restate and elaborate their supervisory views on prudent lending to creditworthy small business borrowers. The statement builds on the principles in existing guidance for prudent lending to creditworthy borrowers and strives to ensure that supervisory policies and actions do not inadvertently curtail the availability of credit to sound small business borrowers. Further, while the regulators expect institutions to effectively monitor and manage credit concentrations, institutions should not automatically refuse credit to sound borrowers because of a borrower's particular industry or geographic location. Financial institutions that engage in prudent small business lending after performing a comprehensive review of a borrower's financial condition will not be subject to criticism.	2/12/2010	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2010/fil10005.html	N/A	FIL-5-2010:

FIL-38-2012: FDIC Advisory on Effective Credit Risk Management Practices for Purchased Loan Participations	Guidance	Financial institutions purchase loan participations to achieve growth and earnings goals, diversify credit risk, and deploy excess liquidity. Some institutions have successfully participated in shared credit facilities, which are arranged by bank and nonbank entities, by implementing effective due diligence and prudent credit risk management practices. However, purchasing banks' over-reliance on lead institutions has, in some instances, caused significant credit losses and contributed to bank failures, particularly for loans to out-of-territory borrowers and obligors involved in industries unfamiliar to the bank. This Advisory reminds state nonmember institutions of the importance of underwriting and administering loan participations in the same diligent manner as if they were being directly originated by the purchasing institution.Statement of Applicability to Institutions With Total Assets Under $1 Billion: This Financial Institution Letter applies to all FDIC-supervised banks and savings associations, including community institutions.	9/12/2012	FDIC-RMS	N/A	https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2012/fil12038.html	N/A	FIL-38-2012

FIL-48-2012: Revised Standards of Creditworthiness for Investment Securities	Guidance	The FDIC is issuing this Financial Institution Letter (FIL) to remind FDIC-supervised institutions of recent regulatory changes regarding the permissibility of certain investment activities. On June 4, 2012, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) adopted a final rule (OCC final rule) and related guidance that removes references to credit ratings in OCC regulations pertaining to investment securities (77 FR 35253 and 35259) consistent with section 939A of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act. Under part 362 of the FDIC's regulations, insured state banks generally are prohibited from engaging in an investment activity that is not permissible for a national bank under OCC regulations, including the requirements of the OCC final rule. The acquisition of a corporate debt security by a federal or state savings association is subject to section 28(d) of the Federal Deposit Insurance (FDI) Act and the requirements of a final rule (FDIC final rule) adopted by the FDIC on July 18, 2012 (77 FR 43151), described in FIL-34-2012 (available at http://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2012/fil12034.html). The FDIC's rule regarding corporate debt securities investments by federal and state savings associations is largely consistent with the OCC final rule and related guidance regarding due diligence considerations and creditworthiness standards for investment securities. Under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act , mortgage loans are higher priced if they are secured by a consumer's home and have interest rates above certain thresholds. In addition, a number of important changes to CFPB mortgage-related rules also are underway, and the FDIC is making available to the public several resources addressing these changes. FIL-47-2013: Director and Officer Liability Insurance Policies, Exclusions, and Indemnification for Civil Money Penalties	Guidance and Rule Reminder	The FDIC has recently noted an increase in exclusionary terms or provisions in director and officer liability insurance policies purchased by financial institutions. These exclusions may limit insurance coverage under certain circumstances, thereby increasing the potential personal exposure of board members and bank officers in civil lawsuits. The attached advisory discusses the importance of thoroughly reviewing and understanding the risks associated with coverage exclusions contained in director and officer liability insurance policies. Additionally, the FDIC is issuing a reminder that an insured depository institution or depository institution holding company may not purchase an insurance policy that would indemnify institution-affiliated parties (IAPs) for civil money penalties (CMPs) assessed against them. Even if the IAP agrees to reimburse the depository institution for the cost of such coverage, the purchase of the insurance policy by the depository institution is prohibited. Dear Chairman Gowdy:

This further responds to your letter dated December 8, 2017, requesting information related to agency guidance documents.

A list containing additional information responsive to your request is enclosed. A description of how the list was compiled is also enclosed with this response. As requested by your staff, the FDIC is producing responsive records on a rolling basis and will update this list should additional, potentially responsive documents be identified.

If you or Committee staff have any questions, please contact me at (202) 898-6761 or Steve Primrose at (202) 898-7112.

Sincerely,

Identification of Relevant FDIC Guidance Documents

The enclosed document contains an additional listing of FDIC guidance documents that have been identified as potentially responsive to the Committee's letter dated December 8, 2017. These documents were identified by a manual search of documents, including, but not limited to, Financial Institution Letters (FILs) that were issued by the FDIC since January 1, 2008, and intended to communicate guidance to FDIC supervised institutions and that also met the guidelines outlined by majority staff of the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform in telephone discussions on December 12, 2017. As discussed with your staff, FILs or other guidance documents that contained the terms "guidance," "guideline(s)," "FAQs," "Q&As," or "Questions and Answers" in their titles have been included on the enclosed list. Only documents issued since January 1, 2008, and that currently remain in effect are included on the enclosed list. As discussed with staff, where FDIC guidance was preceded by interim or advisory issuances, including Notices of Proposed Rulemakings (NPRs) or surveys issued pursuant to the Paperwork Reduction Act, only the final and effective guidance document is included on the enclosed list. Additionally, as discussed with staff, notifications of conference calls or webinars have not been included on the enclosed list.

As also discussed with your staff, it is not the standard practice of the FDIC to submit all FILs or agency issuances to Congress or the Government Accountability Office (GAO) unless the document was subject to a rulemaking under the Administrative Procedure Act. In cases where documents listed were submitted to the Federal Register, the final Federal Register notice is listed.

As your staff is aware, Section 9 of Executive Order 12866 (as amended by Executive Orders 13258 and 13422), which defines "significant guidance documents" and specifies agency treatment of such documents, does not apply to independent regulatory agencies (as defined in 44 U.S.C. § 3502(5)) such as the FDIC, though the FDIC does work closely with the Office of Management and Budget on other matters, such as information collections under the Paperwork Reduction Act. Similarly, the FDIC and other independent agencies are exempt from the requirements of Executive Order 13777, which requires agencies to establish Regulatory Task Forces to review their existing regulations (See April 28, 2017 Memorandum entitled "Guidance on Regulatory Reform Accountability" under Executive Order 13777 titled "Enforcing the Regulatory Reform Agenda"). However, pursuant to the Economic Growth and Regulatory Paperwork Reduction Act of 1996 (EGRPRA), the FDIC reviews all of its regulations and considers how to reduce regulatory burden on insured depository institutions. In its March 2017 EGRPRA report to Congress, the FDIC stated that it will review its guidance documents to identify further opportunities for streamlining guidance and reducing regulatory burden.¹

As requested by your staff, the FDIC is producing responsive records on a rolling basis. The agency will update this list should additional potentially responsive documents be reviewed and identified.

FIL-53-2017 Liquidity Coverage Ratio: Frequently Asked Questions	FAQ	The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (collectively, the agencies) are issuing the attached FAQ document to address questions received by the agencies regarding the applicability of the liquidity coverage ratio (LCR) rule (12 CFR Part 329) in specific situations. The LCR rule was adopted by the agencies in September 2014 and implements a quantitative liquidity requirement consistent with the standard established by the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision. FIL-41-2017 New Accounting Standard on Credit Losses: Frequently Asked Questions	FAQ	The federal financial institution regulatory agencies are issuing updated Frequently Asked Questions on the New Accounting Standard on Financial Instruments – Credit Losses to assist institutions and examiners. The new standard will take effect in 2020 or 2021, depending on an institution's characteristics. FIL-42-2017 Revised Guidelines for Appeals of Material Supervisory Determinations	FDIC Procedure Announcement	The FDIC has adopted revised Guidelines for Appeals of Material Supervisory Determinations (Guidelines), which govern appeals by FDIC-supervised institutions to Division Directors and the Supervision Appeals Review Committee (SARC). The revised Guidelines expand the circumstances under which banks may appeal a material supervisory determination and enhance consistency with the appeals processes of other federal banking agencies. The revised Guidelines also include other limited technical and conforming amendments. FIL-33-2017 Regulatory Capital Treatment of Certain Centrally-Cleared Derivative Contracts Under the FDIC's Capital Rule	Guidance	The FDIC is issuing the attached letter that provides supervisory guidance on the regulatory capital treatment of certain centrally-cleared, settled-to-market derivative contracts. Certain central counterparties have revised their rulebooks such that variation margin is considered a settlement payment and not collateral. If an FDIC-supervised institution determines the transfer of variation margin on a centrally-cleared, settled-to-market contract settles any outstanding exposure on the contract and resets the fair value of the contract to zero, the contract's remaining maturity is the time until the next exchange of variation margin. This guidance may affect a derivative contract's calculation of potential future exposure, which uses a conversion factor based, in part, on the contract's remaining maturity. Statement of Applicability to Institutions with Total Assets Under $1 Billion: This Financial Institution Letter applies to all FDIC-supervised institutions.	8/14/2017	FDIC-RMS		https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2017/fil17033.html		FIL-33-2017
FIL-32-2017 Securities and Exchange Commission Rule Amended to Shorten the Securities Transaction Settlement Cycle	Rule	The FDIC is issuing this announcement to highlight actions that banks should take to prepare for the change in the Securities Exchange Commission's (SEC) rule governing the securities settlement cycle for securities transactions conducted by most broker-dealers. The effective date for the change is September 5, 2017. FIL-22-2017 Adoption of Supervisory Guidance on Model Risk Management	Guidance	The FDIC is adopting the Supervisory Guidance on Model Risk Management previously issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System ("FRB") (SR 11-7) and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency ("OCC") (OCC Bulletin 2011-12), with technical conforming changes, thereby making the guidance applicable to certain FDIC-supervised institutions. The guidance addresses supervisory expectations for model risk management, including: model development, implementation, and use; model validation; and governance, policies, and controls. The FDIC is adopting this guidance to facilitate consistent model risk-management expectations across the banking agencies and industry. Statement of Applicability to Institutions under $1 Billion in Total Assets: It is not expected that this guidance will pertain to FDIC-supervised institutions with under $1 billion in total assets unless the institution's model use is significant, complex, or poses elevated risk to the institution.	6/7/2017	FDIC-RMS		https://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2017/fil17022.html		FIL-22-2017

FIL-19-2017 Advisory on the Availability of Appraisers	Interagency Guidance	The FDIC, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, and the National Credit Union Administration (collectively, the agencies) are issuing an advisory that discusses two existing methods that may address any appraiser shortages: temporary practice permits and temporary waivers. The advisory addresses concerns raised pursuant to the Economic Growth and Regulatory Paperwork Reduction Act (EGRPRA) review process regarding the timeliness of appraisals, due largely to what financial industry commenters believe to be problems with the availability of certified and licensed appraisers, particularly in rural areas. FDIC Statement of Policy for Section 19 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act	Statement of Policy	The FDIC believes that at a minimum, each insured institution should establish a screening process that provides the insured institution with information concerning any convictions or program entry pertaining to a job applicant. This would include, for example, the completion of a written employment application that requires a listing of all convictions and program entries. The FDIC will look to the circumstances of each situation to determine whether the inquiry is reasonable. Upon notice of a conviction or program entry, an application seeking the FDIC's consent prior to the person's participation must be filed.	12/18/2012	FDIC-RMS	77 FR 74847	https://www.fdic.gov/regulations/laws/rules/5000-1300.html	N/A	N/A
Clarification of Statement of Policy for Section 19 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act	Statement of Policy Clarification	The FDIC originally promulgated the Statement of Policy (SOP) for Section 19 of the FDI Act in December 1998. The FDIC, in 2007, issued a clarification to the SOP based on the 2006 amendment to Section 19 of the FDI Act which addressed institution-affiliated parties participating in the affairs of Bank Holding Companies, or Savings and Loan Holding Companies. The FDIC is restating that previous change to the SOP in a slightly modified form and addressing certain other issues that have arisen in the FDIC's interpretation of the policy since its original publication. Dear Chairmen and Ranking Members:

Thank you for your letter of December 8, 2017, which requested that the Federal Election Commission provide the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform with a list of guidance documents issued by the FEC since January 1, 2008. Enclosed is that list.

Your December 8 letter specifically references statements of policy and interpretive rules, and also requests identification of "other guidance," which the letter describes as "agency statement[s] of general applicability and future effect that set[] forth a policy or interpret a statutory or regulatory issue” and “have a significant effect on regulated entities and the public.” In compiling the attached list, FEC staff were mindful of these clarifications regarding the scope of guidance documents the FEC has been asked to identify.

The enclosed list thus identifies all FEC statements of policy and interpretive rules issued since January 1, 2008, as well as other guidance issued during that time period regarding how the FEC interprets and applies laws, legislative rules, and judicial decisions. The Commissioners and FEC staff have conducted a review of Commission documents to the best of their ability in response to your requests; the following categories of documents have been identified in the enclosed list:

1. Regarding formal statements of policy and interpretive rules, the FEC has issued:
 - a. eight statements of policy since January 1, 2008; and
 - b. four interpretive rules since January 1, 2008.
2. Regarding other guidance, the list also identifies:
 - a. six rules of agency organization, procedure, or practice;
 - b. seven FEC Campaign Guides, which are Commission-approved publications designed to summarize the federal campaign finance laws for particular audiences in an effort to help them comply with the Federal Election Campaign Act and FEC regulations; and
 - c. seven press releases that provide generally applicable guidance regarding public compliance with federal campaign finance laws or the Commission’s actions in conformity with judicial decisions.
3. In addition, the list includes a few miscellaneous documents that were also identified as responsive to your letter (e.g., a “guidebook” for complainants and respondents).
4. Finally, the list also includes notations identifying some other documents that do not appear to be responsive to your letter (e.g., FEC directives and advisory opinions), along with explanations for those determinations.

The FEC trusts that this information will be helpful to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, and welcomes the opportunity to work with the Committee further as it carries out its oversight responsibilities. If you would like copies of any of the referenced documents, whether on paper or in an electronic form, or if you would like additional information about any of the documents or have any other questions, please feel free to contact me at (202) 694-1056, or Duane Pugh, the FEC’s Director of Congressional, Legislative and Intergovernmental Affairs, who can be reached at (202) 694-1002 or by email at dpugh@fec.gov.

On behalf of the Commission,

Steven T. Walther
Chairman

ⁱ The FEC issued this interpretive rule, which concerns a special primary election and presents unique issues stemming from New York election law. In connection with other special elections, the FEC issues special election notices, which provide the reporting schedule of 12-day pre- and post-election reports specified in FECA as that statutory schedule pertains to the dates chosen under state law for special elections. These notices involve a mechanical application of law, have limited application and future effect, and accordingly do not appear to be responsive to your December 8 letter. Such notices, which are published in the Federal Register, are also publicly available on the FEC’s website at this link: <https://www.fec.gov/help-candidates-and-committees/dates-and-deadlines/>.

ⁱⁱ Pursuant to FECA’s requirement, the FEC issues advisory opinions in response to requests for advice related to “a specific transaction or activity” by the requester. See 52 U.S.C. § 30108. FECA prohibits the FEC from proposing rules of law in an advisory opinion. See 52 U.S.C. § 30108(b). Although advisory opinions do not appear to be responsive to your December 8 letter, you may access all FEC advisory opinions issued since 2008 on the FEC website, here: <https://www.fec.gov/data/legal/advisory-opinions/>.

ⁱⁱⁱ These Rules of Procedures are contained in an FEC Directive, which is available on the FEC webpage for Guidance Documents. Other FEC Directives do not contain relevant guidance or were not issued in the relevant time period and accordingly do not appear to be responsive to your December 8 letter. All FEC Directives are publicly available on the FEC’s website at this link: <https://www.fec.gov/about/leadership-and-structure/>.

^{iv} FEC Campaign Guides are written prepared by FEC staff and then submit to the Commission for review and are approved by the Commission pursuant to a vote. The FEC also makes available to the public other educational materials that are prepared by FEC staff, and based primarily on Campaign Guides, such as e brochures, Tips for Treasurers, and answers to frequently asked questions. These other, more informal documents do not appear to be responsive to your December 8 letter. Some of the materials also may be found on the FEC’s website at this link: <https://www.fec.gov/help-candidates-and-committees/>.

^v A subsequent U.S. Court of Appeals decision found the challenged FEC regulation valid, superseding this guidance.

^{vi} The FEC also issues FEC Forms and related Instructions for meeting FECA’s reporting requirements, as directed and authorized by FECA, 52 U.S.C. §§ 30107(a)(8) and 30111(a)(8). Forms and Instructions area available at <https://www.fec.gov/help-candidates-and-committees/forms/>. FECA provides for submission of these forms for Congressional review, see 52 U.S.C. § 30111(d), and accordingly the forms are outside the scope of your December 8 letter.

^{vii} Although the FEC has issued many other press releases, only the press releases that appear to be responsive to your December 8 letter are listed. FEC Press Releases are available on the FEC website here: https://www.fec.gov/updates/?update_type=press-release.

^{viii} The Guideline for Presentation in Good Order is listed because it is included on the FEC website page of Guidance Documents. Two other related documents, the Financial Control and Compliance Manual for Presidential Primary Candidates Receiving Public Financing (April 2000) and the General Election Supplement (June 2000) to that document, are not responsive because, by their terms, the documents “merely suggest one approach to managing” a system for accounting, reporting, and recordkeeping. (Manual, at iii, emphasis in original.) Finally, the Commission issues a Schedule of Matching Fund Submission Dates and Dates to Submit Revised Statements of Net Outstanding Campaign Obligations, for each presidential election, however, such documents do not appear to be responsive because they are not an interpretation of laws or regulations, and are of limited applicability and limited future effect. The 2016 version of that document is available on the FEC website here: http://classic.fec.gov/pages/brochures/submission_dates_2016.pdf.

^{ix} OGR’s Question 6 asks about submission of any listed document to the Regulatory Reform Task Force, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, the Government Accountability Office, or Congress. None of the listed documents were submitted to any of those entities. The FEC is not subject to the requirement in Executive Order 12866 to submit significant policy and guidance documents to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA), nor is it subject to the requirement in Executive Order 13777 to establish a Regulatory Reform Task Force. OIRA guidance states that “agencies subject to EO 13777 are only those agencies subject to the regulatory review requirements of EO 12866,” which the guidance states “are those authorities of the United States that are an ‘agency’ under 44 U.S.C. § 3502(5).” OIRA Guidance Implementing Executive Order 13777 at 2, n.2. Accordingly, because 44 U.S.C. § 3502(1) expressly excludes the FEC from the definition of “agency,” Executive Orders 12866 and 13777 do not apply to the FEC.

WASHINGTON, DC 20426

January 29, 2018

OFFICE OF THE CHAIRMAN

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Chairman Gowdy:

Thank you for your letter dated January 11, 2018, regarding “guidance” documents issued by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (“Commission”) since January 1, 2008. Commission staff has conducted an initial search for materials responsive to your letter. The attached spreadsheet lists all responsive documents identified during the course of the Commission’s search as well as responses to certain information requested in your letter.

In conducting the search for guidance documents, two types of guidance documents were identified: (1) policy statements and other guidance orders (“Commission Guidance”) and (2) staff documents including responses to Frequently Asked Questions that are available on the Commission’s website (“Staff Guidance”). Based on the information in your letter distinguishing binding regulations from non-binding guidance, staff did not include within the attached spreadsheet, notice-and-comment rulemaking proceedings and the resulting regulations promulgated by the Commission.¹

Please note that responses to the additional information requested in your letter – specifically, Items 1-5 and 7 – are addressed within the attached spreadsheet. Question 6 is addressed below.

Question 6a. You asked, for each guidance document listed, whether the guidance was considered significant. Commission Guidance is considered significant because it is voted on by the Commission; however, it is not legally binding until it is applied in a particular proceeding. Staff Guidance is not considered significant because it is not intended to impose any new requirements. Rather, Staff Guidance is comprised of staff documents that are intended to provide summaries of previous Commission findings for the public, or to otherwise provide informal staff guidance and views.

Question 6b. You asked, for each guidance document listed, whether the Commission submitted the guidance for review by the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs. Commission Guidance and Staff Guidance are not typically submitted for review by the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs.

Question 6c. You asked, for each guidance document listed, whether the Commission submitted the guidance document to Congress and GAO. Commission Guidance and Staff Guidance are not typically submitted to Congress and GAO.

Question 6d. You asked, for each guidance document listed, whether the Regulatory Reform Task Force has reviewed or has plans to review the guidance documents identified in the attached spreadsheet, and for the results of any such review. The Regulatory Reform Task Force process is still ongoing. In reviewing the Commission's regulations and requirements, the Task Force has also considered relevant guidance documents.

I hope this information is helpful. If I can be of further assistance or if you have any questions about the information provided in the attached spreadsheet, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Kevin J. McIntyre", written in a cursive style.

FEDERAL ENERGY
REGULATORY COMMISSION

January 11, 2018

The Honorable Kevin J. McIntyre
Chairman
Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
888 First Street, NE
Washington, DC 20426

Dear Mr. Chairman:

Agencies issue a wide variety of policy documents for different purposes. Generally, when a policy is intended to be binding, agencies issue a regulation.¹ Other times, agencies issue statements of policy, interpretive rules, and other guidance regarding how the agency plans to interpret laws and legislative rules.²

These various forms of guidance are not legally binding, but, according to the Government Accountability Office (GAO), the documents have wide-ranging effects on public and private sector behavior. In a 2015 report, GAO stated: "guidance documents can have a significant effect on regulated entities and the public, both because of agencies' reliance on large volumes of guidance documents and the fact that the guidance can prompt changes in the behavior of regulated parties and the general public."³

The GAO also found agencies' use of guidance varied significantly, ranging from as few as ten at some agencies to more than one hundred guidance documents each year at others.⁴ The reason for this discrepancy is unclear. It is also unclear whether there are uniform practices or strategies throughout the executive branch for developing and issuing guidance documents.

To help the Committee better understand how and when federal agencies issue guidance documents, please provide a list of all guidance documents issued by your agency since January 1, 2008, including the following for each guidance document listed:

¹ GOV'T ACCOUNTABILITY OFFICE, GAO-17-404T, REGULATORY GUIDANCE PROCESSES: SELECTED DEPARTMENTS COULD STRENGTHEN INTERNAL CONTROL AND DISSEMINATION PRACTICES 14 (April 2015), available at <http://www.gao.gov/assets/670/669688.pdf>.

² Agencies use a variety of names to refer to guidance documents, such as memoranda, policy statements, manuals, circulars, bulletins, advisories, or guidance. The Office of Management and Budget defines a guidance document as an agency statement of general applicability and future effect that sets forth a policy or interprets a statutory or regulatory issue. Id. at 7.

Responding to Committee Document Requests

1. In complying with this request, you are required to produce all responsive documents that are in your possession, custody, or control, whether held by you or your past or present agents, employees, and representatives acting on your behalf. You should also produce documents that you have a legal right to obtain, that you have a right to copy or to which you have access, as well as documents that you have placed in the temporary possession, custody, or control of any third party. Requested records, documents, data or information should not be destroyed, modified, removed, transferred or otherwise made inaccessible to the Committee.
2. In the event that any entity, organization or individual denoted in this request has been, or is also known by any other name than that herein denoted, the request shall be read also to include that alternative identification.
3. The Committee's preference is to receive documents in electronic form (i.e., CD, memory stick, or thumb drive) in lieu of paper productions.
4. Documents produced in electronic format should also be organized, identified, and indexed electronically.
5. Electronic document productions should be prepared according to the following standards:
 - (a) The production should consist of single page Tagged Image File ("TIF"), files accompanied by a Concordance-format load file, an Opticon reference file, and a file defining the fields and character lengths of the load file.
 - (b) Document numbers in the load file should match document Bates numbers and TIF file names.
 - (c) If the production is completed through a series of multiple partial productions, field names and file order in all load files should match.
 - (d) All electronic documents produced to the Committee should include the following fields of metadata specific to each document;

BEGDOC, ENDDOC, TEXT, BEGATTACH, ENDATTACH,
PAGECOUNT, CUSTODIAN, RECORDTYPE, DATE, TIME, SENTDATE, SENTTIME, BEGINDATE, BEGINTIME, ENDDATE, ENDTIME, AUTHOR, FROM,
CC, TO, BCC, SUBJECT, TITLE, FILENAME, FILEEXT, FILESIZE, DATECREATED, TIMECREATED, DATELASTMOD, TIMELASTMOD, INTMSGID, INTMSGHEADER, NATIVELINK, INTFILPATH, EXCEPTION, BEGATTACH.
6. Documents produced to the Committee should include an index describing the contents of the production. To the extent more than one CD, hard drive, memory stick, thumb drive, box or folder is produced, each CD, hard drive, memory stick, thumb drive, box or folder should contain an index describing its contents.

7. Documents produced in response to this request shall be produced together with copies of file labels, dividers or identifying markers with which they were associated when the request was served.
8. When you produce documents, you should identify the paragraph in the Committee's schedule to which the documents respond.
9. It shall not be a basis for refusal to produce documents that any other person or entity also possesses non-identical or identical copies of the same documents.
10. If any of the requested information is only reasonably available in machine-readable form (such as on a computer server, hard drive, or computer backup tape), you should consult with the Committee staff to determine the appropriate format in which to produce the information.
11. If compliance with the request cannot be made in full by the specified return date, compliance shall be made to the extent possible by that date. An explanation of why full compliance is not possible shall be provided along with any partial production.
12. In the event that a document is withheld on the basis of privilege, provide a privilege log containing the following information concerning any such document: (a) the privilege asserted; (b) the type of document; (c) the general subject matter; (d) the date, author and addressee; and (e) the relationship of the author and addressee to each other.
13. If any document responsive to this request was, but no longer is, in your possession, custody, or control, identify the document (stating its date, author, subject and recipients) and explain the circumstances under which the document ceased to be in your possession, custody, or control.
14. If a date or other descriptive detail set forth in this request referring to a document is inaccurate, but the actual date or other descriptive detail is known to you or is otherwise apparent from the context of the request, you are required to produce all documents which would be responsive as if the date or other descriptive detail were correct.
15. Unless otherwise specified, the time period covered by this request is from January 1, 2009 to the present.
16. This request is continuing in nature and applies to any newly-discovered information. Any record, document, compilation of data or information, not produced because it has not been located or discovered by the return date, shall be produced immediately upon subsequent location or discovery.
17. All documents shall be Bates-stamped sequentially and produced sequentially.
18. Two sets of documents shall be delivered, one set to the Majority Staff and one set to the Minority Staff. When documents are produced to the Committee, production sets shall be delivered to the Majority Staff in Room 2157 of the Rayburn House Office Building and the Minority Staff in Room 2471 of the Rayburn House Office Building.

19. Upon completion of the document production, you should submit a written certification, signed by you or your counsel, stating that: (1) a diligent search has been completed of all documents in your possession, custody, or control which reasonably could contain responsive documents; and (2) all documents located during the search that are responsive have been produced to the Committee.

Federal Housing Financing Agency

FEDERAL HOUSING FINANCE AGENCY
Office of the Director

December 22, 2017

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman
Committee on Oversight
and Government Reform
United States House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Chairman Gowdy:

This letter and the enclosure are in response to your December 8, 2017 letter requesting information about the Federal Housing Finance Agency's (FHFA's) guidance documents.

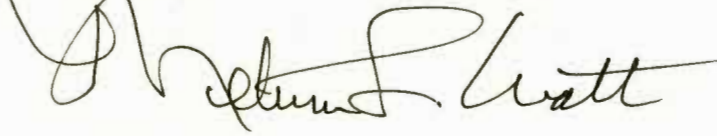

FHFA was established on June 30, 2008 and the enclosure contains a list of guidance documents issued by FHFA from that date to the date of this letter, including the title, reference number, description and hyperlink for each. FHFA guidance documents are routinely made public through publication on FHFA's website, unless contrary considerations exist. Other identifying information referenced in your letter does not appear to be applicable in light of the fact that FHFA is a relatively small agency and does not have offices fitting the description of "component, office, or program" that would be considered the issuer of the documents as opposed to the agency itself.

The summaries contained in the enclosure are drawn from descriptions in FHFA's overview of regulations and guidance included in our Annual Reports to Congress. In line with the standards of what is deemed "economically significant" expressed in Executive Order 12866 or "major" in the Congressional Review Act, none of FHFA's guidance documents are considered "significant." None of these guidance documents have been submitted to other agencies for review.

While we have made a good faith effort to list and provide information on all documents meeting the criteria outlined in your December 8 letter, if we subsequently find other documents that we consider responsive they will be provided. Additionally, if there are documents other than those listed in the enclosure that you believe would be responsive to your request, please advise me so I can ensure appropriate follow up.

If you have any additional questions, please contact Peter Brereton, Associate Director, Office of Congressional Affairs and Communications at (202) 649-3022.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Melvin L. Watt". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "Melvin" being more prominent and the last name "Watt" ending in a long, sweeping horizontal stroke.

Melvin L. Watt

Dear Chairman Gowdy, Chairman Meadows, Chairman Jordan, and Chairman Palmer:

The Federal Labor Relations Authority (the "FLRA") is responsible for establishing policies and guidance regarding the labor-management relations program for 2.1 million non-Postal, federal employees worldwide, approximately 1.2 million of whom are represented in 2,200 bargaining units.

Although I have only been in this position for less than two weeks, I am pleased to submit the attached response to the Committee's December 8, 2017 request for all guidance documents issued by the FLRA since January 1, 2008. If you or your staff require additional information or have any questions, please contact Solicitor Fred B. Jacob (at 202-218-7906 or fjacob@flra.gov) or Gina Grippando, Counsel for Regulatory and Public Affairs (at 202-218-7776 or ggripp@flra.gov).

The Honorable Patrick Pizzella
Acting Chairman
U.S. Federal Labor Relations Authority
1400 K Street NW #2
Washington, DC 20005

Dear Mr. Pizzella:

Agencies issue a wide variety of policy documents for different purposes. Generally, when a policy is intended to be binding, agencies issue a regulation.¹ Other times, agencies issue statements of policy, interpretive rules, and other guidance regarding how the agency plans to interpret laws and legislative rules.²

These various forms of guidance are not legally binding, but, according to the Government Accountability Office (GAO), the documents have wide-ranging effects on public and private sector behavior. In a 2015 report, GAO stated: "guidance documents can have a significant effect on regulated entities and the public, both because of agencies' reliance on large volumes of guidance documents and the fact that the guidance can prompt changes in the behavior of regulated parties and the general public."³

The GAO also found agencies' use of guidance varied significantly, ranging from as few as ten at some agencies to more than one hundred guidance documents each year at others.⁴ The reason for this discrepancy is unclear. It is also unclear whether there are uniform practices or strategies throughout the executive branch for developing and issuing guidance documents.

To help the Committee better understand how and when federal agencies issue guidance documents, please provide a list of all guidance documents issued by your agency since January 1, 2008, including the following for each guidance document listed:

¹ GOV'T ACCOUNTABILITY OFFICE, GAO-17-404T, REGULATORY GUIDANCE PROCESSES: SELECTED DEPARTMENTS COULD STRENGTHEN INTERNAL CONTROL AND DISSEMINATION PRACTICES 14 (April 2015), available at <http://www.gao.gov/assets/670/669688.pdf>.

² Agencies use a variety of names to refer to guidance documents, such as memoranda, policy statements, manuals, circulars, bulletins, advisories, or guidance. The Office of Management and Budget defines a guidance document as an agency statement of general applicability and future effect that sets forth a policy or interprets a statutory or regulatory issue. Id. at 7.

³ Id. at 8.

⁴ Id. at 13.

1. The title;
2. The name of the form of guidance, such as circular, guidance, frequently asked questions, bulletin, memoranda, or statement;
3. A brief description of the subject;
4. The date of issuance;
5. The issuing agency, component, office, or program;
6. An indication of whether:
 - a. The guidance was considered significant;
 - b. The agency submitted the guidance for review by the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, and if it was:
 - i. The title of the guidance used in the submission; and
 - ii. The date submitted;
 - c. The agency submitted the guidance to Congress and GAO, and if it was:
 - i. The title of the guidance used in the submission; and
 - ii. The date submitted; and
 - d. The Regulatory Reform Task Force has reviewed or has plans to review the guidance document, and any results of such review; and
7. To the extent applicable:
 - a. The Federal Record citation;
 - b. A hyperlink to a copy of the document;
 - c. The Regulation Identification Number; and
 - d. Any other identification number for the document.

Provide the requested documents and information as soon as possible, but no later than 5:00 p.m. on December 22, 2017. An attachment to this letter provides additional instructions for responding to the Committee's request.

Re: Committee Request for FLRA Guidance Documents

Dear Chairman Gowdy, Chairman Meadows, Chairman Jordan, and Chairman Palmer:

We write to respond to your letter dated December 8, 2017, requesting guidance documents issued by the Federal Labor Relations Authority (the “FLRA”) from January 1, 2008 to the present. We enclose a DVD-rom disc containing your letter and a chart of the requested guidance. Each column of the chart contains information corresponding to a numbered request in your letter. Please note that none of the FLRA’s guidance qualifies as a “significant guidance document” as that term is defined in the Office of Management and Budget’s Final Bulletin for Agency Good Guidance Practices, 72 Fed. Reg. 3434-01, 3439 (Jan. 25, 2007).

Our response includes guidance prepared – most notably, summaries of FLRA case law – to educate outside parties concerning the public functions that the Federal Service Labor-Management Relations Statute, 5 U.S.C. §§ 7101-7135, charges the FLRA with performing. In an abundance of caution, we also have included links to training materials that we use to educate agencies, labor organizations, federal employees, and members of the general public about federal-sector labor law.

Our response does not include internal agency policies not generally available to the public concerning subjects such as management of FLRA employees, the format to be used in drafting FLRA documents, and case processing procedures. Our response also does not include FLRA regulations available with the U.S. Government Publishing Office.

Finally, due to the adjudicatory functions that the FLRA performs, many of the FLRA's manuals are routinely updated to include recent FLRA case law. To the extent possible, we have included the dates the FLRA created and/or last updated the identified documents. We have not included prior versions of those documents because the changes from one document to the next are often as small as inserting references to individual case decisions.

Pursuant to Paragraph 19 of the instructions for responding to Committee document requests attached to your letter, I certify that (1) a diligent search has been completed of all documents in our possession, custody, or control that reasonably could contain responsive documents, and (2) all documents located during our search that are responsive have been identified to the Committee on the attached list.

If you have any questions or need additional assistance, your staff may contact me at (202) 218-7906 or fjacob@flra.gov.

Sincerely,

Fred B. Jacob

Federal Maritime Commission

Federal Maritime Commission
Washington, D.C. 20573 - 0001

Office of the Chairman

January 25, 2018

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman
Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
2157 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, District of Columbia 20515-6143

Dear Chairman Gowdy:

I am writing in response to your January 11, 2018 letter requesting information on the Federal Maritime Commission's (Commission or FMC) use of policy statements, interpretive rules, and other guidance documents that reflect how the Commission intends to interpret the shipping laws and legislative rules which it administers.

The Federal Maritime Commission does not frequently issue guidance documents in lieu of rulemakings, nor do we seek to expand the Commission's rules through non-binding policy guidance. Accordingly, we have a limited list of the materials you seek and documents deemed responsive to the Committee's request. Attached is a list describing our responsive documents, including materials published on the FMC's website to assist regulated entities and the shipping public, such as providing "plain language" guidance on license renewals and bond rider forms.

The FMC is a small independent agency of 123 employees. The FMC's mission is to ensure a competitive and reliable international transportation supply system that supports the U.S. economy and protect the public from unfair and deceptive practices. In order to accomplish its mission, the Commission regularly communicates with the public and its stakeholders through open public meetings and hearings, rulemakings, and other venues such as the FMC's website and social media accounts.

The Commission prioritizes acting through the formal public notice and comment rulemaking process rather than issuing statements of general applicability and future effect that are not regulatory actions. The formal rulemaking process includes publishing notice of proposed rulemakings in the Federal Register and seeking public comments. The FMC relies on robust public participation to assist in modernizing its regulations and providing clear and transparent guidance to its regulated entities within its rulemaking documents.

On occasion the Commission has issued guidance documents, including two industry circulars on tariff systems issued in 2000 that remain available on the Commission's website. None of the guidance documents issued by the Commission are deemed significant under Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Bulletin 07-02, Final Bulletin for Agency Good Guidance Practices (GGP Bulletin).¹ Accordingly, the guidance documents were not submitted to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Congress, or the Government Accountability Office (GAO) for review.

Notwithstanding the above OMB guidance, the Commission has sought to identify for the Committee all Commission statements of general applicability and future effect that appear to set forth a policy or interpret a statutory or regulatory issue. Internal policy documents that set forth solely administrative agency policies, such as Commission Orders and Managing Directives, are not included because internal administrative policies do not offer guidance to regulated entities or the public.

In general, guidance materials are found on the Commission's website with other, non-guidance content aimed at educating stakeholders and the public on services offered by the FMC, general alerts and advisories on trade conditions, and particular ocean transportation intermediary or vessel carrier actions. Commission forms approved by OMB without additional accompanying guidance/instructions, such as Form FMC-65, Foreign-based Unlicensed NVOCC Registration/Renewal, have not been included as responsive.²

Non-web-based guidance documents are rare at the FMC. Although Commission staff performs outreach and gives presentations that discuss the Shipping Act and FMC regulations to outside groups, these presentations are not maintained by the Commission as guidance documents and are not readily-retrievable. Those presentations identified are included in this response. Internally, these presentations are not considered guidance documents, as they are employed to alert and educate industry groups as to new rulemaking initiatives and final rules, rather than to elaborate or expand upon published regulations. Since 2017, the content of all staff presentations are transmitted and reviewed by the Office of General Counsel and the Office of the Chairman in advance of any public distribution.

As the Committee seeks guidance documents dating as early as 2008, the Commission has included, to the extent available, past web content that is no longer available publicly through the Commission's website. Web content removed prior to a 2010 website migration is no longer available for retrieval. Existing page content may have changed from the time of initial posting. In some instances, information on when the content was posted and removed is not available or has been approximated. Based on federal recordkeeping requirements, superseded content may not have been preserved.

The Commission is engaged in a voluntary effort to provide regulatory reform consistent with Executive Order 13771, Reducing Regulations and Controlling Regulatory Costs and Executive Order 13777, Enforcing the Regulatory Reform Agenda. As an independent regulatory agency, the Commission is not required to comply with the recent regulatory reform Executive Orders, but given its historic and

Congressionally mandated deregulatory emphasis, the Commission has established a Regulatory Reform Task Force (RRTF) and is engaged in a systematic review and overhaul of its regulations. The RRTF recently announced a 24-month Plan for Regulatory Reform of Existing FMC Rules, prioritizing existing regulations for review, modification, or potential repeal.³ Each rulemaking will seek public feedback. In the course of that examination, the RRTF will look at any guidance documents related to modified or repealed rules, and insure that any guidance is appropriately updated and formally published within the formal rulemaking process.

I invite you to contact me directly with any questions you may have regarding the mission of the Federal Maritime Commission or any additional information that would be beneficial to you in your examination of guidance documents. Alternatively, your staff can contact John DeCrosta of my staff at (202) 523-0224 or via JDeCrosta@FMC.gov.

Sincerely,

Michael A. Khouri
Acting Chairman

Federal Maritime Commission Guidance Documents

Prepared for the House of Representatives Committee on Oversight and Government Reform

About the information provided:

The list provides all available information responsive to the Committee's request.

- 1) The prepared table does not include a section for responses to the following inquiry as all FMC Commission responses for the inquiry are negative:
 6. An indication whether:
 - a. The guidance was considered significant;
 - b. The agency submitted the guidance for review by the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, and if it was:
 - i. The title of the guidance used in the submission; and
 - ii. The date submitted;
 - c. The agency submitted the guidance to Congress and GAO, and if it was:
 - i. The title of the guidance used in the submission; and
 - ii. The date submitted;
 - d. The Regulatory Reform Task Force has reviewed or has plans to review the guidance document, and any results of such review.
- 2) The Commission's website houses the majority of the FMC's guidance documents. In 2010, the Commission migrated all existing web content to a new platform. As a result of this migration, the date of issuance for documents before 2010 is not ascertainable unless it is listed on the document itself.
- 3) Based on current Commission website protocols, most content issued will not have an issued date. Issuance dates provided for the documents are approximate and, unless otherwise noted, have been compiled based on information on the Commission website updating efforts and Commission recordkeeping. For older content, the Commission has added a "Date Last Updated" category to better describe the current webpage version's date of issuance.
- 4) Several webpages post similar guidance, but are listed under separate pages. The Commission has included duplicative content in its response. The Commission is working to redesign its website, which will remove duplicative pages moving forward.
- 5) Commission meetings held in Open Session are transcribed. Meeting transcripts have not been included in this response. Copies of transcripts are available upon request.

General Services Administration

January 2, 2018

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman, Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Chairman Gowdy:

Thank you for your letter dated December 8, 2017, requesting information about "guidance documents issued by [our] agency since January 1, 2008."

As one of the Federal Government's central management agencies, the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) issues policies to assist agencies in carrying out their missions. GSA accomplishes this through four comprehensive regulations: the Federal Property Management Regulation, the Federal Management Regulation, the Federal Travel Regulation, and GSA's supplement to the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR), the General Services Acquisition Regulation (GSAR). GSA is also a member of the Federal Acquisition Regulatory Council.

The referenced U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) report stated the purpose of guidance is to "explain and help regulated parties comply with agency regulations."¹ GAO's review was "limited to guidance issued to external parties"² and also referenced the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Bulletin entitled, "Agency Good Guidance Practices," which excluded "...purely internal agency policies; guidance documents that pertain to the use, operation or control of a government facility; [and] internal guidance documents directed solely to other Federal agencies..."³

GSA's guidance documents are focused on internal GSA policies or are intended for use by other Executive Branch agencies that rely on GSA's services. Neither of these groups falls within the scope of guidance as defined by GAO or OMB. When GSA does seek to issue guidance directed external entities – namely contractors seeking to do business or doing business with the Government – it follows the procedures prescribed by the Administrative Procedures Act (5 U.S.C. 553) and the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act (41 U.S.C. 1707). GSA follows this approach when conducting notice and comment rulemaking, or when formally incorporating policies into GSA's regulations.

Nevertheless, please refer to the table attached to this letter, which provides a list of agency guidance documents, the impacted parties, and the published location, as well as the following examples of non-regulatory policies issued by GSA.

GSA's internal and intra-Executive Branch guidance documents include, but not limited to, memoranda issued by the Senior Procurement Executive to GSA procurement offices; bulletins, notices, and deviation documents issued by GSA to other agencies for travel, transportation and asset management issues; and guidance documents for Federal advisory committee management. GSA's guidance documents are not considered significant under Executive Order 12866 and, therefore, are not reviewed by OMB's Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs. Accordingly, these guidance documents are not submitted to Congress or GAO.

The heads of certain GSA offices, such as the Federal Acquisition Service, the Public Buildings Service, the Office of the Chief Financial Officer, and the Office of the Chief Information Officer, also issue GSA Orders on matters other than procurement.

GSA's Senior Procurement Executive has the authority to issue exceptions, called deviations, to the FAR and the GSAR. These deviations are issued through memoranda or "Acquisition Letters." While deviations are usually internally focused, they may change a contract requirement, and, therefore, affect contractors. However, deviations are issued to address immediate concerns and are temporary in nature, unless formally incorporated into regulation via rulemaking. GSA does not consider these actions to be agency guidance as defined by GAO and OMB, as they are issued under the purview of the FAR "...when necessary to meet the specific needs and requirements of each agency."⁴ Nonetheless, the published location of these deviations is shown in the attachment to this letter.

Finally, the GSA Regulatory Reform Task Force has built upon the intent and spirit of Executive Orders 13771 and 13777 by expanding the scope of its review to include non-regulatory policies and practices. This approach provides an opportunity to review GSA's day-to-day work and non-regulatory activities that could lead GSA to better serve its customers, and ultimately, the American people. The task force's review is ongoing and results have yet to be finalized.

However, deviations are issued to address immediate concerns and are temporary in nature, unless formally incorporated into regulation via rulemaking. GSA does not consider these actions to be agency guidance as defined by GAO and OMB, as they are issued under the purview of the FAR "...when necessary to meet the specific needs and requirements of each agency."⁴ Nonetheless, the published location of these deviations is shown in the attachment to this letter.

Finally, the GSA Regulatory Reform Task Force has built upon the intent and spirit of Executive Orders 13771 and 13777 by expanding the scope of its review to include non-regulatory policies and practices. This approach provides an opportunity to review GSA's day-to-day work and non-regulatory activities that could lead GSA to better serve its customers, and ultimately, the American people. The task force's review is ongoing and results have yet to be finalized.

The Honorable Jim Jordan
Chairman
Subcommittee on Healthcare, Benefits, and Administrative Rules
House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Representative Jordan:

Thank you for your letter dated December 8, 2017, requesting information about "guidance documents issued by [our] agency since January 1, 2008."

As one of the Federal Government's central management agencies, the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) issues policies to assist agencies in carrying out their missions. GSA accomplishes this through four comprehensive regulations: the Federal Property Management Regulation, the Federal Management Regulation, the Federal Travel Regulation, and GSA's supplement to the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR), the General Services Acquisition Regulation (GSAR). GSA is also a member of the Federal Acquisition Regulatory Council.

The referenced U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) report stated the purpose of guidance is to "explain and help regulated parties comply with agency regulations."¹ GAO's review was "limited to guidance issued to external parties"² and also referenced the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Bulletin entitled, "Agency Good Guidance Practices," which excluded "...purely internal agency policies; guidance documents that pertain to the use, operation or control of a government facility; [and] internal guidance documents directed solely to other Federal agencies..."³

GSA's guidance documents are focused on internal GSA policies or are intended for use by other Executive Branch agencies that rely on GSA's services. Neither of these groups falls within the scope of guidance as defined by GAO or OMB. When GSA does seek to issue guidance directed external entities – namely contractors seeking to do business or doing business with the Government – it follows the procedures prescribed by the Administrative Procedures Act (5 U.S.C. 553) and the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act (41 U.S.C. 1707). GSA follows this approach when conducting notice and comment rulemaking, or when formally incorporating policies into GSA's regulations.

Nevertheless, please refer to the table attached to this letter, which provides a list of agency guidance documents, the impacted parties, and the published location, as well as the following examples of non-regulatory policies issued by GSA.

GSA's internal and intra-Executive Branch guidance documents include, but not limited to, memoranda issued by the Senior Procurement Executive to GSA procurement offices; bulletins, notices, and deviation documents issued by GSA to other agencies for travel, transportation and asset management issues; and guidance documents for Federal advisory committee management. GSA's guidance documents are not considered significant under Executive Order 12866 and, therefore, are not reviewed by OMB's Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs. Accordingly, these guidance documents are not submitted to Congress or GAO.

The heads of certain GSA offices, such as the Federal Acquisition Service, the Public Buildings Service, the Office of the Chief Financial Officer, and the Office of the Chief Information Officer, also issue GSA Orders on matters other than procurement.

GSA's Senior Procurement Executive has the authority to issue exceptions, called deviations, to the FAR and the GSAR. These deviations are issued through memoranda or "Acquisition Letters." While deviations are usually internally focused, they may change a contract requirement, and, therefore, affect contractors. However, deviations are issued to address immediate concerns and are temporary in nature, unless formally incorporated into regulation via rulemaking. GSA does not consider these actions to be agency guidance as defined by GAO and OMB, as they are issued under the purview of the FAR "...when necessary to meet the specific needs and requirements of each agency."⁴ Nonetheless, the published location of these deviations is shown in the attachment to this letter.

WASHINGTON, DC 20515-6143

MAJORITY (202) 225-5074

December 8, 2017

Mr. Timothy O. Horne
Acting Administrator
U.S. General Services Administration
1800 F Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20405

Dear Mr. Horne:

Agencies issue a wide variety of policy documents for different purposes. Generally, when a policy is intended to be binding, agencies issue a regulation.¹ Other times, agencies issue statements of policy, interpretive rules, and other guidance regarding how the agency plans to interpret laws and legislative rules.²

These various forms of guidance are not legally binding, but, according to the Government Accountability Office (GAO), the documents have wide-ranging effects on public and private sector behavior. In a 2015 report, GAO stated: “guidance documents can have a significant effect on regulated entities and the public, both because of agencies’ reliance on large volumes of guidance documents and the fact that the guidance can prompt changes in the behavior of regulated parties and the general public.”³

The GAO also found agencies’ use of guidance varied significantly, ranging from as few as ten at some agencies to more than one hundred guidance documents each year at others.⁴ The reason for this discrepancy is unclear. It is also unclear whether there are uniform practices or strategies throughout the executive branch for developing and issuing guidance documents.

To help the Committee better understand how and when federal agencies issue guidance documents, please provide a list of all guidance documents issued by your agency since January 1, 2008, including the following for each guidance document listed:

¹ GOV’T ACCOUNTABILITY OFFICE, GAO-17-404T, REGULATORY GUIDANCE PROCESSES: SELECTED DEPARTMENTS COULD STRENGTHEN INTERNAL CONTROL AND DISSEMINATION PRACTICES 14 (April 2015), available at <http://www.gao.gov/assets/670/669688.pdf>.

² Agencies use a variety of names to refer to guidance documents, such as memoranda, policy statements, manuals, circulars, bulletins, advisories, or guidance. The Office of Management and Budget defines a guidance document as an agency statement of general applicability and future effect that sets forth a policy or interprets a statutory or regulatory issue. Id. at 7.

2. The name of the form of guidance, such as circular, guidance, frequently asked questions, bulletin, memoranda, or statement;
3. A brief description of the subject;
4. The date of issuance;
5. The issuing agency, component, office, or program;
6. An indication of whether:
 - a. The guidance was considered significant;
 - b. The agency submitted the guidance for review by the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, and if it was:

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman
House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
Rayburn 2157
Washington, D.C.

Dear Chairman Gowdy:

Thank you for your December 8, 2017, letter regarding guidance documents. As Associate Deputy Secretary Charles Keckler testified before your Committee on November 14, 2017, the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is committed to improving the regulatory process as laid out by the President's Executive Orders.

Those Executive Orders require HHS to identify regulations for elimination and to form a Regulatory Task Force (RTF), to oversee the process and to evaluate existing regulations and, consistent with applicable law, make recommendations on their repeal, replacement or modification. HHS established its RTF on April 13, 2017. The leadership is comprised of the Reform Officer (the Deputy Secretary), the Regulatory Policy Officer (the General Counsel), and the Executive Secretary. The RTF also relies on the expertise of the Secretary's Senior Counselors, the Assistant Secretary for Financial Resources, the Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation, and officials from the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS).

The Department subsequently created six working groups under the direction of the RTF, to assist in the process:

- The FDA Working Group assesses proposed deregulatory actions that can be taken with respect to FDA regulations and issues.
- The CMS Working Group reviews not only Medicare and Medicaid issues, but also actions that can be taken by the National Coordinator for Health IT, the Departmental Appeals Board, the Office of Inspector General, and the Office of Medicare Hearings and Appeals.
- The Services Working Group assesses the regulatory policies of the Administration for Children and Families, Health Resources and Services Administration, Indian Health Service, Office for Civil Rights, Office of the General Counsel, and Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration.

- The Science and Public Health Working Group is responsible for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Institutes of Health, and Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health.
- The Performance Measures Working Group meets monthly to develop measures to report on HHS regulatory reform performance.
- The Analytics Team meets regularly to develop internal guidance to Operating and Staff Divisions on how to measure regulatory costs, cost-savings, and benefits.

These working groups will assist HHS and the RTF in its review of regulations and guidance documents.

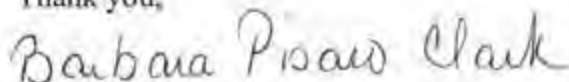

Your letter requested information on the guidance documents that have been issued since January 1, 2008. Guidance documents directed externally are readily available in most cases:

- HHS.Gov/Regulations. The Department's regulatory web portal provides information and guidance on a number of Department policies, including the Health Insurance Portability Accountability Act, the Health Information for Economic and Clinical Health Act, and final rules by operating division as well as significant guidance documents.
- FDA.Gov/RegulatoryInformation/Guidances. The FDA provides a searchable database of guidance documents.
- CMS.Gov/Regulations-and-Guidance/Regulations-and-Guidance.html. CMS provides public links to manuals, regulations, policies, and information for the different types of providers in the Medicare and Medicaid systems.

If there are specific guidance documents that you wish to discuss, please contact the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Legislation.

The Department shares your interest in reducing the regulatory burden on patients and providers. As we continue to work to reduce this burden while improving safety, we are always willing to discuss how to better perform our RTF responsibilities.

Thank you,

Barbara Pisaro Clark
Acting Assistant Secretary for Legislation

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman
House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
Rayburn 2157
Washington, D.C.

Dear Chairman Gowdy:

We are replying to your January 29, 2018 letter ("January 29 letter")¹ regarding the Department of Health and Human Services' (HHS) efforts to comply with your information requests. While we recognize Congress' important role in conducting oversight of the executive branch, your letter does not accurately reflect the Department's efforts.

The Committee's October 11, 2017 request seeking information relating to federal disaster preparedness and response in Puerto Rico and U.S. Virgin Islands

The Department produced materials responsive to this request on December 19, 2017 and February 2, 2018.²

During one of the most devastating hurricane seasons in American history, the Committee wrote to then Acting Secretary Don Wright, M.D. on October 11, 2017 requesting every document or communication "received, prepared, or sent" prior to September 5, 2017 relating to "threat assessments, mitigation measures, emergency preparedness, or other contingency plans in the case of a hurricane striking Puerto Rico or the U.S. Virgin Islands."³ Your letter also requested every document or communication "received, prepared, or sent" by HHS during landfall for hurricanes Irma and Maria. The individuals who keep these records were in the midst of hurricane recovery and relief efforts; therefore responding to your request at that time would have required pulling them from their active response duties to conduct an administrative task.

In your letter you recognized the strain on agency resources your request would create and stated that "[w]e are aware of the many demands on the Department's resources following the hurricanes. Therefore, the Committee will coordinate with your staff on a production schedule that will meet the Committee's needs while respecting the importance of devoting Department resources to the immediate response effort." The January 29 letter criticizing the pace of production ignores the fact that your initial request, itself, indicated that a rigorous production

¹ Letter from Trey Gowdy, Chairman, House Committee on Oversight & Government Reform, to Alex Azar, Secretary, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (Jan. 29, 2017)

³ Letter from Trey Gowdy, Chairman, House Committee on Oversight & Government Reform, to Don Wright, M.D., Acting Secretary, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (Oct. 11, 2017) schedule would be harmful to ongoing relief efforts and therefore you were not providing a hard deadline.

After hurricane season, Department and Committee staff convened a call on December 7, 2017 where we discussed producing the materials in question.⁴ We produced the first batch in less than two weeks, on December 19, 2017.

The January 29 letter does not accurately represent HHS' efforts to update the Committee on the production. In a January 23, 2018 briefing with staff from the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response, Committee staff requested an update on the status of the production. HHS staff indicated they would check and update the Committee. We did so, via e-mail, approximately 2 hours later.⁵ Your January 29 letter ignores this response and incorrectly states that we were "unable to provide any update on the status of the response, whatsoever."

That same e-mail updating your staff on production of the documents indicated that the documents would be delivered the week of January 29. HHS produced these documents that week. On February 4, 2018 Department staff offered the Committee several options for how we could continue to provide information related hurricane preparedness and relief.⁶ We are still awaiting a response.

The Committee's October 19, 2017 request for documents relating to the Medicare Part D program and opioid addiction or diversion

The Department produced materials responsive to this request on November 2, 2017,⁷ November 22, 2017⁸ and January 30, 2018.⁹

The Committee's January 29 letter avers that HHS has only produced "one of five categories of documents" before its two-week deadline. That statement fails to acknowledge that the Department provided the Committee with documents in the other categories on a rolling basis before the January 29 letter, and that the Committee did not object to that rolling production.¹⁰

At no time prior to January 29, 2018, did Committee staff indicate that the Department's production was behind schedule.

The Committee's November 2, 2017 request for information relating to cost-sharing reduction payments

CMS responded on December 19, 2017 to the Committee's letter requesting information on these payments.¹¹ This response explained both the cost-sharing reduction (CSR) payments and reconciliation process, as the Committee requested. CMS also provided the following documents:

- Annual Premium Tax Credit (APTC) and Cost-Sharing Reduction (CSR) payment amounts for FY 2014 along with the final payment amounts.
- A description of the termination clause in issuers' contracts.
- Guidance to issuers regarding reporting CSR amounts for 2015 MLR and risk corridors.
- December 13, 2017, First Half of 2017 Average Effectuated Enrollment Report, which includes APTC and CSR enrollment information the Committee requested.
- Guidance to issuers detailing the process for reconciling CSR payments for benefit years 2014 and 2015.
- Guidance to issuers detailing the process for reconciling CSR payments for benefit years 2016.
- An Excel spreadsheet that details the enrollment numbers and average CSR payments per enrollee by zip code.
- June 12, 2017, Effectuated Enrollment Snapshot, which includes APTC and CSR enrollment information the Committee requested.

Your January 29 letter describes all of this information in the following manner: "After committing to make progress, HHS staff eventually provided an outdated 2013 memo not responsive to the Committee's original request. To date, HHS has produced none of the 'prioritized' documents identified by Committee staff" This sentence strongly suggests that the Department produced only a single document of minimum relevance. That is not the case. The January 29 letter also fails to note the briefing CMS provided committee staff on December 7, 2017.

¹¹ Email from Office of Legislation staff, Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, to majority staff, House Committee on Oversight & Government Reform (Dec. 19, 2017).

The Committee's December 8, 2017, request for a list of guidance documents

The most troubling section in the January 29 letter is the description of HHS' efforts to comply with your December 8, 2017 request¹² regarding guidance documents. The Committee's request asked HHS to gather for the Committee all guidance documents issued by the Department since January 1, 2008. The request also detailed, at length, the formatting and data that should be included in the document. Inasmuch as most HHS guidance documents that are labeled as such are available on-line, HHS replied on December 22, 2017¹³ with links to departmental websites where guidance documents are available. However, according to the January 29 letter, the Department's response "raise(s) questions of competence and basic operational functionality of the legislative affairs department."

The January 29 letter did not mention that HHS staff and Committee staff spoke on January 4, 2018 about the Department's position on this matter.¹⁴ HHS was concerned by the Committee's demand that the guidance documents be provided in specific format that differs from the format in which they were generated and are stored. As was explained to your staff, it is the view of HHS and the Office of the General Counsel that the Rules of the House of Representatives do not permit the Committee to compel HHS staff to create new documents for them. In the call, HHS staff asked Committee staff to identify the rule or judicial precedent that creates this authority. Committee staff has yet to provide such information. Instead, the January 29 letter claims that we have provided "no compelling reason—legal or otherwise—for withholding documents from the Committee." We have provided our legal position and have yet to hear your response.

It also appears that Committee staff did not fully review the information provided by the Department before you were asked to sign the January 29 letter. The January 29 letter describes the Department's December 22, 2017 response as having "no probative value." Yet, in a February 9, 2018 call Committee staff indicated that the information we provided regarding the Food and Drug Administration does provide a list of guidance documents. Many of the Department's documents denoted as "guidance" are issued by FDA pursuant to Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act § 701(h). It should be noted that the February 9 call involved the Department's General Counsel who explained to the Committee staff that there is no universally accepted definition of "guidance document" and that under the broadest reading, that term could include millions of documents. The General Counsel explained that the Committee staff's belated reliance on the OMB's definition of "guidance document" in its "Final Bulletin for Agency Good Guidance Practices" (2007) was too broad to provide meaningful boundaries to an otherwise elusive term.

¹² Letter from Trey Gowdy, Chairman, House Committee on Oversight & Government Reform, to Eric Hargan, Acting Secretary, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (Dec. 8, 2017).

¹³ Letter from Barbara Pisaro Clark, Acting Assistant Secretary for Legislation, Department of Health and Human Services to Trey Gowdy, Chairman of the House Committee on Oversight & Government Reform (Dec. 22, 2017).

¹⁴ Phone call between U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, with House Committee on Oversight & Government Reform (Jan. 4, 2018).

In light of this, Committee staff recognized the need to place boundaries on the definition of the term. Accordingly, we agreed to provide within fourteen days a description of our concerns with the definition of “guidance documents,” which we have done in this letter. Absent any further attempt by Committee staff to place meaningful limits on the definition of “guidance document,” we will be unable to respond in meaningful and productive way.

We share your concern and frustration at the all too common use of “guidance documents” by agencies. This Administration is taking steps to address this issue. As the General Counsel explained, the Department of Justice issued a memorandum stating that the Department “may not use its enforcement authority to effectively convert agency guidance documents into binding rules.”¹⁵ Department litigators may not use noncompliance with guidance documents to prove violations of law.¹⁶ We believe this policy should obviate the Committee’s concerns that guidance documents are being used to create binding rules that skirt the regulatory process required by Administrative Procedure Act § 4 and that impose obligations on the citizenry.

The Committee’s November 14, 2017 request for an action plan for compiling guidance documents

The January 29 letter also mischaracterizes the January 10, 2018 call between HHS and Committee staff, wherein we communicated to your staff that the 14-day plan of action is still being drafted.

The Committee’s December 20, 2017 request for information relating to HIPAA/HITECH guidance

On February 5, 2018 and February 6, 2018 the Department produced materials responsive to this request. The Department continues to search for documents responsive to this request.

If you have any other questions or wish to discuss these materials, please contact the office of the Assistant Secretary for Legislation.

Thank you,

Matthew D. Bassett

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman, Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515-6134

Dear Chairman Gowdy:

Pursuant to the Committee's request of December 8, 2017, I am pleased to provide you with a listing of the policy guidance documents that have been issued by the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB) since January 1, 2008.* That information is included in the enclosed table. The MSPB is not a regulatory agency; rather, it is an independent, quasi-judicial agency in the Executive branch that adjudicates individual employee appeals of adverse employment actions and conducts merit systems studies. In addition, MSPB reviews the significant actions of the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) to assess the degree to which those actions may affect the merit protection systems. Since MSPB is not a regulatory agency, we do not issue many guidance documents.

The enclosed table reflects a broad interpretation of "policy guidance documents." In particular, we have included documents released by the MSPB to aid parties who appear before the agency in interpreting agency case law, regulations, and procedures. Additionally, we have included some documents that pre-date 2008, but are still in current use by the agency. Please contact me or Rosalyn Coates of my staff at (202) 254-4485 or rosalyn.coates@mspb.gov if you or other members of the Committee have questions or require additional information.

Sincerely,

Mark A. Robbins
Vice Chairman

* Because the office of Chairman currently is vacant, the functions of the chief executive and administrative officer of the Merit Systems Protection Board are vested in the Vice Chairman pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 1203(b).

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman
Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman:

Thank you for your letter of December 8, 2017, requesting a detailed list of guidance documents issued by NASA since January 1, 2008. We appreciate your interest in this subject and would like to offer you the enclosed in the hopes that it might assist the Committee's inquiry.

Each of the enclosed guidance documents is a significant part of how NASA undertakes activities such as contracts, grants, cooperative agreements and awards. NASA is constantly working to improve the way it interacts with and explains its needs to a wide range of partners and the public in concert with the Office of Management and Budget and across the Administration.

To date, none of these issues has been raised with a regulatory reform task force. You may recall that NASA has designated a representative responsible for overseeing NASA's participation on the Federal Acquisitions Regulatory (FAR) Council's Regulatory Reform Task Force and is prepared to participate in that setting as requested.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in purple ink that reads "Rebecca L. Lee".

Associate Administrator
for Legislative and Intergovernmental Affairs (Acting)

Nuclear Regulatory Commission

CHAIRMAN

UNITED STATES
NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20555-0001

February 12, 2018

The Honorable Trey Gowdy
Chairman, Committee on Oversight
and Government Reform
United States House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman:

On behalf of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), I am responding to your December 8, 2017, letter requesting a list of guidance documents issued by the NRC since January 1, 2008. The NRC has a consolidated website¹ where it posts links to the wide variety of documents issued by the agency, including the majority of its guidance documents. The NRC issues guidance in various forms, including as Regulatory Guides and NUREG Series publications. Please find enclosed the list of guidance documents that you requested.

As an independent regulatory agency, portions of the sixth criterion listed in your letter do not apply to the NRC. However, we have identified whether the listed guidance documents were considered "major rules" under the Congressional Review Act (CRA). We have also indicated when the NRC requested a major/non-major rule determination under the CRA and/or review under the Paperwork Reduction Act from the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs within the Office of Management and Budget for the listed guidance documents. The NRC has also provided accession (or "ML") numbers for documents that are publicly available in the NRC's Agencywide Documents Access and Management System.

I hope this information meets the Committee's needs. If you need anything additional, please contact me or have your staff contact Eugene Dacus, Director of the Office of Congressional Affairs, at (301) 415-1776.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "K. Svinicki", is written over a blue horizontal line.

Kristine L. Svinicki

UNITED STATES
NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20555-0001

February 12, 2018

The Honorable Gary J. Palmer
Chairman, Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Affairs
Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
United States House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman:

On behalf of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), I am responding to your December 8, 2017, letter requesting a list of guidance documents issued by the NRC since January 1, 2008. The NRC has a consolidated website¹ where it posts links to the wide variety of documents issued by the agency, including the majority of its guidance documents. The NRC issues guidance in various forms, including as Regulatory Guides and NUREG Series publications. Please find enclosed the list of guidance documents that you requested.

As an independent regulatory agency, portions of the sixth criterion listed in your letter do not apply to the NRC. However, we have identified whether the listed guidance documents were considered "major rules" under the Congressional Review Act (CRA). We have also indicated when the NRC requested a major/non-major rule determination under the CRA and/or review under the Paperwork Reduction Act from the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs within the Office of Management and Budget for the listed guidance documents. The NRC has also provided accession (or "ML") numbers for documents that are publicly available in the NRC's Agencywide Documents Access and Management System.

I hope this information meets the Committee's needs. If you need anything additional, please contact me or have your staff contact Eugene Dacus, Director of the Office of Congressional Affairs, at (301) 415-1776.

Sincerely,

Kristine L. Svinicki

Enclosure:
As stated
