

for these policies in its communications with WPATH.<sup>4</sup> The reality that WPATH caved to make changes to child patient care recommendations based on blatant political motivations is a stain on the credibility of WPATH and its guidelines.

In December 2021, WPATH published its draft Standards of Care, Version 8 (SOC-8) for public comment.<sup>5</sup> The draft SOC-8 recommended lowering the age minimums to age 14 for cross-sex hormone treatments, age 15 for transgender mastectomies, age 16 for transgender breast augmentation and facial surgery, and age 17 for transgender genital surgeries and hysterectomies.<sup>6</sup> WPATH emails reveal direct meetings between Admiral Rachel Levine, Assistant Secretary for Health, and WPATH's leadership, indicating the Admiral was "very eager" for the release of SOC-8 and supportive of its integration within "health policies of the Biden government."<sup>7</sup> More emails describe planned WPATH meetings where Admiral Levine and HHS staff were "keen to bring the trans health agenda forward."<sup>8</sup>

According to additional WPATH emails, Admiral Levine and then-Chief of Staff Sarah Boateng asked WPATH if the "specific ages can be taken out" of SOC-8 and warned that "having specific ages in the document will make matters worse."<sup>9</sup> The final version of SOC-8 published in September 2022 entirely removed these age minimums,<sup>10</sup> despite WPATH directly informing Admiral Levine that it was not possible to remove the age recommendations.

WPATH's leadership expressed dismay at Admiral Levine's request. One WPATH advisory committee member admitted "I don't see how we can simply remove something that important from the document...at this final stage of the game."<sup>11</sup> An additional member explained that "nobody wanted to make [the changes], and [was] personally not agreeing with the change."<sup>12</sup> Despite WPATH's initial minimum age recommendations, Admiral Levine and Boateng's clear, concise instructions to remove age recommendations from SOC-8 led to their ultimate removal, notwithstanding the Biden Administration's now public statement that it opposes providing such surgeries to minors.

To assist our investigation of political interference by HHS and the inconsistency between the White House's stated position on transition surgeries for minors and this administration's actions, please provide the following documents and communications, covering the period January 20, 2021, to present, as soon as possible, but not later than September 10, 2024:
